July 6/7: 14th Sunday in Ordinary Time

Fourteenth Sunday in Ordinary Time

Humans, all of us, can be very contradictory creatures. Think, for example, of all the times we have a very clear and accurate notion of what's required for our welfare and still fail to make that choice. This brings to mind the old joke: God must have a flat forehead from all the times God smacks hand against brow in frustration over our inconsistencies.

Communication is something essential to our welfare. Advertisers know this and have many variations on the theme "reach out and touch someone." Yet how many times do we choose not to communicate, to withdraw in silent isolation? Today's readings are about communicating God's Word, a mission that is shared by all of us who have been gifted with faith.

The author of Third Isaiah (Chapters 56-66) brings a message of hope. Jerusalem is a nursing mother: "That you may nurse and be satisfied from her consoling breast" (Isaiah 66:11). Our Lord is a loving mother: "As a mother comforts her child, so will I comfort you" (66:13). For this prophet, God is compelled to reach out.

Paul speaks today in Galatians about "brand marks." In Paul's time, brand marks showed that a person belonged to someone else. Circumcision was this kind of mark for the followers of the Jewish law. The Christian sign of belonging and commitment is the cross. Life has meaning in Jesus' cross and the new life brought about by Jesus' death and resurrection (Galatians 6:15; 2 Corinthians 5:17). This cross bridges our communication, vertically God and horizontally with one another.

Luke is the only evangelist who speaks about a mission of the seventy-two. Matthew, Mark, and John all have a mission of the Twelve. Luke is anticipating the proclamation of the Good News to the Gentiles. The disciples speak the ultimate message of the Lord, "Say to them, 'The kingdom of God has come near to you'" (Luke 10:9). We are today's disciples. Our mandate is the same -- to speak by our words and deeds the love of our God.
