St. John Brebeuf Parish Weekly Offerings:

St. John Brebeuf Parish offers the convenience of pre-authorized giving.

What are the benefits of participating in this program?

- + Convenience: Your offering is deducted from your bank account or credit card once each month. You can plan your giving in advance for the whole year and make changes at any time with written notification.
- + Continual support of the church when you are away: A regular, dependable flow of contributions ensures that our financial obligations are met, especially over the summer months.
- + Reduced costs to our parish and our earth: Envelope costs are on the rise. Sharing your gifts through pre-authorized options reduces the cost of the envelopes for our parish, and less paper equals a healthier earth.

Forms are available at all church entrances.

May 26/27, 2018: Solemnity of the Most Holy Trinity

The Solemnity of the Most Holy Trinity: Deuteronomy 4:32-34, 39-40; Psalm 33; Romans 8:14-17; Matthew 28:16-20

Storming away from an argument is a perfectly normal human reaction. It may not be the healthiest way to cope with conflict, but sometimes it's the best a person can muster—at least it's better than throwing dishes. After leaving, there can be a moment when a person looks back hoping that whoever they're running from will come chasing after. It's a moment of vulnerability wedged in the middle of a defiant display of superiority. How often have we deserted God, thinking we'd be better off on our own? Worse even still are those times we've felt like it's been God who has walked out on us. Yet in these moments God stretches out to hold us even closer.

The Hebrew people were no strangers to vacillating in and out of God's favour. Rescued from slavery in Egypt, they exercised their newfound freedom by complaining about the food and wishing for an idol to worship. It would be easy to imagine that God would be enraged and abandon his people to their own devices. Instead, God gives his people a second chance, inscribing for them once more the commandments he had given to Moses. What may have been a bitter end to God's relationship with his people became instead a jumping off point for God's boundless love and forgiveness.

The mystery of God's endless love is the heart of our belief in the Holy Trinity. God is by nature, a relationship—God is love itself. It is easy to believe that God is capable of this kind of love, but it still comes as a surprise that we—as stiff-necked as we are—are somehow able to receive this love. The world may keep running away from this love, stomping away to escape it. God keeps stretching out to hold onto us when we think we're unfit for love. The real mystery of the Trinity is how something so perfect and pure can be the destination of both saints and sinners. So there we are, standing outside with folded arms, looking back to the door in our smug self-righteousness, too frozen with pride and fear to go back inside, convinced we wouldn't be welcome even if we did try to return. We wait with irrational hope that maybe, just this last time—really—God will come out after us, once again. It's at those times that God bursts through "with arms stretched out between heaven and earth" to hold us closer than we ever thought possible.
