SEPTEMBER 29/30, 2012: TWENTY-SIXTH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

Twenty-sixth Sunday in Ordinary Time

Human nature tends to be judgmental. Sometimes our inclination to judge results in elitism, concluding that others are not worthy of our company. Today's readings make God our model for judging. Whom did God ever leave out of his love? Who was ever unworthy of God's gifts?

Moses had earlier complained to God that he could not provide for Israel in the desert all by himself. To alleviate the situation, God promised to confer Moses' prophetic spirit on seventy elders. Even though Eldad and Medad were not present in the camp when God conferred Moses' spirit, they still received the gift and began to prophesy. The lesson is that God's ability to share the spirit is not restricted. God is the measure.

The author of James maintains that the rich have mistreated their employees. Since they withheld the wages that were due, their silver and gold will corrode and their garments will fall prey to ravaging moths. The wealthy have not realized that God is the God of the poor, and intercedes on their behalf.

In today's gospel passage, Mark brings together sayings of Jesus. In the first saying, Jesus rejects the elitism of the disciples (verses 39-40); in the second (verse 41), anyone who gives the disciple a drink will belong to Christ; in the third (verse 42), Jesus holds up the little ones as totally dependent on God, whom no one may lead astray. Narrow vision will not capture the kingdom.

Narrow vision impedes our growth in faith. God empowers all people with love. Whom do we fail to see as worthy of our love? John Craghan, Th.D., S.S.L. Copyright 1993, Liguori Publications \ Liguori, MO 63057-9999
