April 28, 2019– Second Sunday of Easter

We continue to celebrate the presence of the Risen Lord and the new life we share as members of the Church. Renewed by the grace of our baptism, we are called to be joyful witnesses of peace in our troubled world. It is sad and shocking that so many people choose the path of violence and hatred and lash out with acts of extremism and religious persecution. May those affected by the terrible bombings in Sri Lanka be given the peace of the Kingdom. May the survivors be renewed in hope.

Today is also known as the Sunday of Divine Mercy. It is a recognition that the gift the Risen Jesus offers to the disciples is mercy and peace. He forgives them for their failings and with merciful tenderness breathes on them the Holy Spirit which empowers them (and us) to continue proclaiming the Kingdom.

This week the members of the Catholic Women's League in Windsor-Essex will be hosting the annual Diocesan Convention. May they be days of encouragement and prayerful support for one another. Thanks to all who brought in socks for their "Warmth for the Homeless" project.

We thank once again all who helped to make our Easter liturgies so wonderful. The church looked joyful and festive and our celebrations were filled with Easter Faith.

Here are links to the recently released trailer and website: trailer: <https://youtu.be/JIKd1nQRzfo>; website: <https://thefrancisimpact.com/>. This new film explores how Pope Francis' vision for the Catholic Church – rooted in ecology, welcoming refugees, inter-faith dialogue and pastoral reform – has taken root across the globe and is impacting the lives of ordinary people and communities. The film includes an exclusive message from Pope Francis himself, in which he calls on viewers to shift their focus to the peripheries, and become protagonists in building a more just and peaceful world.
