Pentecost –

The Spirit that Renews

On the day of Pentecost the disciples experienced a transforming power as they were filled with the Holy Spirit. As we have been hearing since Easter, following the crucifixion of Christ the disciples were scared and in hiding. When the Holy Spirit came and filled the entire house where they were, the disciples were transformed. No longer were they a scared group, but were now one body inflamed with Passion for Christ and propelled to proclaim the Good News. The Spirit that the disciples encountered is the same Spirit that is shared with us in our Baptism and brought deeper in our Confirmation. The transformation that the Spirit offers is, in a way, dependent on us as well. In order to receive the Spirit, we must, so to speak, make room for it. We must allow ourselves to be transformed by God's power. We do that when we make peace with our fears and insecurities; we admit our sinfulness and need of Grace; and, we realize that the Lord is our hope.

And when the love that is the Spirit continues its work of transformation we want to do one thing, and that is to share it. Pope Francis writes "every authentic experience of truth and goodness seeks by its very nature to grow within us, and any person who has experienced a profound liberation becomes more sensitive to the needs of others... Life grows by being given away, and it weakens in isolation and comfort. Indeed, those who enjoy life most are those who leave security on the shore and become excited in the mission of communicating life to others."

On this Pentecost Sunday, we thank God for the gift of the Holy Spirit who works in countless hidden ways to deepen our faith, fill us with strength and inspiration and to renew our lives.

Working wonders for those who need help in our neighbourhood

In response to operational challenges and funding cuts, agencies continue to explore creative ways of working together and reaching more clients. The first initiative known as "Shared Services" encourages agencies to share back office functions in the areas of human resources, financial management and information technology. The vision for this effort is to strengthen the collaboration of agencies guided by the philosophy of working for the common good. Ultimately these administrative and program efficiencies will lead to enhanced organizational capacity, reducing overhead and administrative costs for ShareLife supported agencies.

Next ShareLife Sunday is May 29, 2016

Please give generously. Together we can work wonders!
