Pope Francis offers encouragement to Ontario's bishops in their fight for conscience rights for health care workers.

Conscience rights was a key topic among several talking points raised by the 21 Ontario bishops when they met with the Pope during their ad limina visit to the Vatican April 25. Bishop Douglas Crosby, president of the Canadian Conference of Catholic Bishops, said the group expressed its concerns about proposed Ontario legislation that offers no protection for the right of doctors and other health care workers to conscientiously object to participating directly or indirectly in helping a patient die.

Pope Francis, the bishop said, "agreed with our concern" and encouraged the bishops in their fight. Toronto's Cardinal Thomas Collins described the conscience provisions surrounding legalized euthanasia as "the most urgent issue we are dealing with." Among other matters discussed during the meeting were the Canadian Catholic Church's relations with indigenous communities, immigration and medically assisted suicide in Canada. Living the Gospel by providing for those in need...

"One of the core components of our Pastoral Plan is Catholic Outreach in Justice and Love. As a Catholic community we are called to be the hands and face of Jesus in our communities. One of the ways that we do this is through our annual ShareLife appeal, which provides resources to agencies serving the poor and marginalized not only in our archdiocese, but also around the world.

ShareLife is a tangible way that we can put the Gospel value to love one another as I have loved you into action, and I invite all parishioners to support the mission work of the Catholic church by making a sacrificial gift to ShareLife." —Thomas Cardinal Collins, Archbishop of Toronto.

Today is ShareLife Sunday – May 7, 2017
Thank you for your generosity.
