Spend Some Time with Kids a woman's perspective
Let the little children come to me and do not hinder them, for the kingdom of God belongs to such as these. (Mt 19.14, Lk 18.16)

So often, we adults, in our conversing with each other, can drag each other down with the weight of the world, with the negativity of our words. I can't take too much of that. I have to walk away. Yes, I know the world is in a terrible state, and perhaps there's reason to despair, but we cannot move forward and grow when we're dragged down so. I'm the perennial optimist, I believe firmly that prayerful positivity will get us through. God has never, nor will he ever abandon us. So get out of that negative rut. Go spend some time with happy, fun-loving, trusting children.

I did that just last week – spent the weekend with three of my four grandchildren, the three oldest. We began with a trip to Toronto, getting lost, as Grandma is wont to do.

"I didn't know people in Toronto were so nice," said my 10 year old granddaughter, when a gentleman in a pickup truck let me go ahead of him, seeing, no doubt, the look of absolute panic and confusion on my countenance.

We were in the city for a performance of Cirque du Soleil, and I would venture to say, the magic of this show is best enjoyed through the eyes of children. They were mesmerized, they were awestruck, enthralled and oh-so-grateful. They thanked me at least a dozen times each. It was a delight for me to experience the show through the wonder and joy of my grandchildren.

How do we go from wonder-filled, joyful children to skeptical, distrusting adults? As faith-filled Christians, we must be doing something wrong, if we do not hold the wonder and joy of God in our hearts? How do we recapture that trust and wonder? The next time a group of adults are sitting around despairing over the state our country, our world, slip away, find a quiet spot – a church is best – and pray. Does that sound too simplistic? Perhaps, but, as Jesus says, the kingdom of God belongs to such as these.

Special Collection - The annual special collection for our cemeteries will take place next weekend, All Soul's Day, November 2nd / 3rd. Parishioners using boxed envelopes will find they have an envelope for this purpose. Those on PAR, or without regular envelopes will find special envelopes marked All Soul's at the back of the church today and throughout the month of November. The need is great and resources are stretched. Please contribute generously to this important aspect of parish life.

Cemeteries of St. Mary's & the Missions - Please Remove Items from the Cemeteries before December 1st. Flower Arrangements, Solar Lights, Vases and Glass containers must be removed from all graves prior to December 1st.
