THIRTY-THIRD SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME November 13, 2016

Do you remember the story of Anne Frank, the teenager who lived in Amsterdam during the early years of World War II, when the Nazis began rounding up Jews, and the seven members of her family who went into hiding for two years? They waited in daily fear of being discovered until the day of that dreaded knock on the door and they were taken to a concentration camp and exterminated. During those years, Anne kept a diary. Her reflections are well worth pondering today as we enter the truth revealed by Jesus about the end of Jerusalem and ultimately the end of the world. There are some people today who live paralyzed by fear and unable to bear the sufferings we experience in following Jesus through his Cross. Some groups even show a "millennial fever" as they have predicted the time of the end of the world and have tried to instill a hopeless fear in others. Here is a passage from Anne's diary during those dark hours she spent writing her diary:

"It's twice as hard for us young people to hold our ground, in a time when all ideals are being shattered and destroyed, when people are showing their worst side, and do not know whether to believe in truth and right and God."

It is really a wonder that I haven't dropped all my ideals, because they seem so absurd and impossible to carry out. Yet I keep them, because in spite of everything I still believe that people are good at heart.

I see the world being turned into a wilderness. I hear the ever-approaching thunder, which will destroy us too. I can hear the sufferings of millions and yet, if I look up into the heavens, I think that it will all come right, that this cruelty too will end, and that peace and tranquility will return again."

We can appreciate how this young person exemplifies the teaching of Jesus when he says to us in the Gospel today:
By your endurance you shall gain souls.

When disaster seems to be in our face, we can easily be swayed by the culture we are in to escape it by leaving the Faith and cutting ourselves off from others rather than enduring and living through the difficulties with trust in God who is in control. Instead we want to take the steps of His way to glory, which are the healing redeeming way of the Cross.

When faced with what seems like the 'end of world' Jesus teaches us not to drown in our anger nor be deceived, nor be afraid, nor to give up, but to hold fast to our witness of Him and his kingdom. Jesus looks fearlessly on what is happening around Him and shows the apostles and us how to live through these events not feeling like sad victims of circumstances but as opportunities to live without fear holding our ground in His kingdom.

Our builders and architects are making finishing touches on our beautiful new church and we all need to be patient and helpful as we settle into our new place of worship in the house of God. I am so grateful to Father Danny who is honing his pastoral leadership skills and to everyone who came together to make our vision of "one roof" a reality, and feel the pain and nostalgia many have as we find our place with everyone else in the praise and worship of God in His holy Catholic church. We have a beautiful legacy to pass on to our young people who will discover God if we invite them in. Remember that our chapel will be available for prayer and contemplation at all times.

May God increase your faith and protect the most vulnerable in our parish family, remembering especially the poor in our midst, the young who are so easily disillusioned in our times, and the sick who bear the fragility of our common humanity. Many blessings for this week, the last week in the Year of Faith and the Jubilee Year of Mercy.

.....Fr. Patrick
