CYCLE A

REFLECTION

Of Wheat and Weeds: Scott Hahn Reflects on the Sixteenth Sunday in Ordinary Time

God is always teaching His people, we hear in today's First Reading. And what does He want us to know? That He has care for all of us, that though He is a God of justice, even those who defy and disbelieve Him may hope for His mercy if they turn to Him in repentance. This divine teaching continues in the three parables that Jesus tells in the Gospel today. Each describes the emergence of the kingdom of God from the seeds sown by His works and preaching. The kingdom's growth is hidden—like the working of yeast in bread; it's improbable, unexpected—as in the way the tall mustard tree grows from the smallest of seeds. Again this week's readings sound a note of questioning: Why does God permit the evil to grow alongside the good? Why does He permit some to reject the Word of His kingdom? Because, as we sing in today's Psalm, God is slow to anger and abounding in kindness. He is just, Jesus assures us—evildoers and those who cause others to sin will be thrown into the fiery furnace at the end of the age. But by His patience, God is teaching us—that above all He desires repentance, and the gathering of all nations to worship Him and to glorify His name. Even though we don't know how to pray as we ought, the Spirit will intercede for us, Paul promises in today's Epistle. But first we must turn and call upon Him, we must commit ourselves to letting the good seed of His Word bear fruit in our lives. So we should not be deceived or lose heart when we see weeds among the wheat, truth and holiness mixed with error, injustice and sin. For now, He makes His sun rise on the good and the bad (see Matthew 5:45). But the harvest draws near. Let's work that we might be numbered among the righteous children—who will shine like the sun in the kingdom of the Father.

Readings:
Wisdom 12:13, 16-19
Psalm 86:5-6, 9-10, 15-16
Romans 8:26-27
Matthew 13:24-43

Thank you to Dr. Scott Hahn and the St. Paul Center for the use of the weekly Mass reflections. More resources are available at www.stpaulcenter.com

Jurisdictions where masks are mandatory (places of worship)

City of Toronto – by-law passed June 30 – masks in indoor spaces (including places of worship) became mandatory as of Tuesday, July 7, 2020.

Peel Region – by-laws have been passed in Brampton, Mississauga and Caledon to take effect as of Friday, July 10, 2020. The directive indicates that churches, mosques and other places of worship are included, except during a religious rite or ceremony that is incompatible with the face being covered. Our interpretation is that mandatory masks are required in churches except when receiving Holy Communion, priests or others in the sanctuary or for a couple being married or child being baptized.

Simcoe Region – by-law passed. A mask/face covering is required in public indoor spaces, including places of worship as of Monday, July 13, 2020.

York Region – by-law passed. A mask/face covering is required in public indoor spaces, including places of worship as of Friday, July 17, 2020.
