PURIFICATION OF THE HEART

The heart is the seat of moral personality: "Out of the heart come evil thoughts, murder, adultery, fornication...." The struggle against carnal covetousness entails purifying the heart and practicing temperance: "Remain simple and innocent, and you will be like little children who do not know the evil that destroys man's life." The sixth beatitude proclaims, "Blessed are the pure in heart, for they shall see God." "Pure in heart" refers to those who have attuned their intellects and wills to the demands of God's holiness, chiefly in three areas: charity; chastity or sexual rectitude; love of truth and orthodoxy of faith. There is a connection between purity of heart, of body, and of faith: "The faithful must believe the articles of the Creed "so that by believing they may obey God, by obeying may live well, by living well may purify their hearts, and with pure hearts may understand what they believe.""

The "pure in heart" are promised that they will see God face to face and be like him. Purity of heart is the precondition of the vision of God. Even now it enables us to see according to God, to accept others as "neighbors"; it lets us perceive the human body - ours and our neighbor's - as a temple of the Holy Spirit, a manifestation of divine beauty.

Baptism confers on its recipient the grace of purification from all sins. But the baptized must continue to struggle against concupiscence of the flesh and disordered desires. With God's grace he will prevail by the virtue and gift of chastity, by purity of intention, by purity of vision, and by prayer.

Purity requires modesty, an integral part of temperance. Modesty protects the intimate center of the person. It means refusing to unveil what should remain hidden. It is ordered to chastity to whose sensitivity it bears witness. It guides how one looks at others and behaves toward them in conformity with the dignity of persons and their solidarity.

Modesty protects the mystery of persons and their love. It encourages patience and moderation in loving relationships; it requires that the conditions for the definitive giving and commitment of man and woman to one another be fulfilled. Modesty is decency. It inspires one's choice of clothing. It keeps silence or reserve where there is evident risk of unhealthy curiosity. It is discreet.

There is a modesty of the feelings as well as of the body.... Modesty inspires a way of life which makes it possible to resist the allurements of fashion and the pressures of prevailing ideologies.

...(M)odesty exists as an intuition of the spiritual dignity proper to man. It is born with the awakening consciousness of being a subject. Teaching modesty to children and adolescents means awakening in them respect for the human person.

So called moral permissiveness rests on an erroneous conception of human freedom; the necessary precondition for the development of true freedom is to let oneself be educated in the moral law. Those in charge of education can reasonably be expected to give young people instruction respectful of the truth, the qualities of the heart, and the moral and spiritual dignity of man.

"The Good News of Christ continually renews the life and culture of fallen man; it combats and removes the error and evil which flow from the ever-present attraction of sin. It never ceases to purify and elevate the morality of peoples. It takes the spiritual qualities and endowments of every age and nation, and with supernatural riches it causes them to blossom, as it were, from within; it fortifies, completes, and restores them in Christ."

Catechism of the Catholic Church 2517-2523

YEAR OF THE PRIESTHOOD

"Far from reducing the figure of St. John Mary Vianney to an example, as admirable as it may be, of 19th century devotional spirituality, it is necessary on the contrary to grasp the prophetic power that marks his human and priestly personality with the greatest relevance. In post-revolutionary France, which was experiencing a sort of 'dictatorship of rationalism' aimed at eliminating the very presence of priests and of the Church from society, he lived first of all – during his youth – an heroic concealment, traveling for kilometers at night in order to participate in the holy Mass. Afterward – as a priest – he distinguished himself by a singular and fruitful pastoral creativity, capable of demonstrating that the reigning rationalism of the time was in reality far from satisfying the authentic needs of man, and therefore absolutely unlivable.

"Dear brothers and sisters, 150 years after the death of the holy Curé of Ars, the challenges of today's society are no less demanding, on the contrary, they have become more complex. If back then there was the 'dictatorship of rationalism', in the present era a sort of 'dictatorship of relativism' can be seen in many circles. Both appear to be inadequate answers to man's just demand to use his own reason fully as a distinctive and constitutive element of his identity. Rationalism was inadequate because it does not take human limitations into account, and it presumes to elevate reason alone as the measure of all things, transforming it into a goddess; contemporary relativism destroys reason, because in fact it goes so far as to affirm that the human being cannot know anything with certainty beyond the field of positive science. But today, like back then, man 'begging for meaning and fulfillment' goes in constant search of exhaustive answers to the fundamental questions that he does not cease to pose to himself."

But in what did the sanctity of this "anonymous priest from a remote village in the south of France" shine the most? Above all in seeing him celebrate the Mass and hear confession, Benedict XVI answers. The life of the holy Curé d'Ars was completely dedicated to the Eucharist and to the sacrament of forgiveness. He lived "between the altar and the confessional."

30 agosto 2009 - 22^a del tempo ordinario

“Seguiamo dunque il Signore come servi e sopportiamo le maledizioni per poter essere benedetti! Quando ascolterò parole insolenti o malvagie rivolte contro di me con oca moderazione, risponderò io stesso con eguale amarezza, oppure sarò tormentato da una muta impazienza. Però se dopo aver ricevuto qualche maledizione io colpirò, come potrò seguire l'insegnamento del Signore, dove è stato insegnato che l'uomo è inquinato non dai vasi, ma dalle cose che escono dalla sua bocca? (Tertulliano, La pazienza 8.3-5).”

“Alcuni ritengono che i cattivi pensieri siano ispirati dal diavolo e non dalla loro stessa volontà. Il diavolo può essere collaboratore e istigatore dei cattivi pensieri, non può esserne l'autore (Beda, Comm. a Mc 2.7).”

“La vita interiore è il fondamento ultimo: la formazione si fa dall'interno verso l'esterno. Più un'anima è profondamente attaccata a Dio, più è totalmente abbandonata alla grazia, maggiore sarà la sua influenza sull'edificazione della Chiesa (E. Stein, in La persona unificata, 87).”

Per Gesù l'essenziale nella vita non è la legge e la sua esecuzione o non esecuzione, ma il cuore, cioè l'amore con cui si osserva la legge, la volontà di seguire lui come maestro e fonte di vera vita, come modello e forza di autentico amore al prossimo. Senza questo cuore, l'esecuzione della legge diventa pesante e senza gioia, o una copertura momentanea al nostro vuoto d'amore. Tutto dunque è fondamentalmente questione di amore, di espressione d'amore, di alimento d'amore: di un amore da uomo, da uomo alleato di Dio e dei suoi fratelli.

“Nella tua misericordia hai tanto amato gli uomini da mandare il tuo Figlio come redentore a condividere in tutto, fuorché nel peccato, la nostra condizione umana. Così hai amato in noi ciò che amavi nel Figlio e in lui, servo obbediente, hai ricostruito l'alleanza distrutta dalla disobbedienza del peccato” (prefazio del tempo ordinario, VII).

AVVISI

2. 11-13 settembre: ritiro carismatico a Marylake diretto dal P. Joe MacDonald. Per informazioni chiamate Hilda (416-781-0733) o Edith (416-782-4556).
3. Se l'estate vi ha ispirato voglia di cantare, vi si ricorda che le prove del coro ricominciano giovedì, 10 settembre; oltre ad un'esperienza importante di amicizia, la partecipazione al coro è occasione particolare di dare lode al Signore e di edificare la sua Chiesa.
4. Se invece avete sviluppato un desiderio più profondo di preghiera, il gruppo di preghiera si rivela sempre accogliente a nuovi membri che vogliono intraprendere generosa opera di lode ed intercessione. Ci si incontra ogni mercoledì dopo la S. Messa vespertina.
