"AND FORGIVE US OUR TRESPASSES, AS WE FORGIVE THOSE WHO TRESPASS AGAINST US"

This petition is astonishing. If it consisted only of the first phrase, "And forgive us our trespasses," it might have been included, implicitly, in the first three petitions of the Lord's Prayer, since Christ's sacrifice is "that sins may be forgiven." But, according to the second phrase, our petition will not be heard unless we have first met a strict requirement. Our petition looks to the future, but our response must come first, for the two parts are joined by the single word "as."

And forgive us our trespasses... With bold confidence, we began praying to our Father. In begging Him that His name be hallowed, we were in fact asking Him that we ourselves might be always made more holy. But though we are clothed with the baptismal garment, we do not cease to sin, to turn away from God. Now, in this new petition, we return to Him like the prodigal son and, like the tax collector, recognize that we are sinners before him. Our petition begins with a "confession" of our wretchedness and His mercy. Our hope is firm because, in His Son, "we have redemption, the forgiveness of sins." We find the efficacious and undoubted sign of His forgiveness in the sacraments of his Church.

Now - and this is daunting - this outpouring of mercy cannot penetrate our hearts as long as we have not forgiven those who have trespassed against us. Love, like the Body of Christ, is indivisible; we cannot love the God we cannot see if we do not love the brother or sister we do see. In refusing to forgive our brothers and sisters, our hearts are closed and their hardness makes them impervious to the Father's merciful love; but in confessing our sins, our hearts are opened to His grace.

This petition is so important that it is the only one to which the Lord returns and which He develops explicitly in the Sermon on the Mount. This crucial requirement of the covenant mystery is impossible for man. But "with God all things are possible."

...as we forgive those who trespass against us. This "as" is not unique in Jesus' teaching: "You, therefore, must be perfect, as your heavenly Father is perfect"; "Be merciful, even as your Father is merciful"; "A new commandment I give to you, that you love one another, even as I have loved you, that you also love one another." It is impossible to keep the Lord's commandment by imitating the divine model from outside; there has to be a vital participation, coming from the depths of the heart, in the holiness and the mercy and the love of our God. Only the Spirit by whom we live can make "ours" the same mind that was in Christ Jesus. Then the unity of forgiveness becomes possible and we find ourselves "forgiving one another, as God in Christ forgave" us.

Thus the Lord's words on forgiveness, the love that loves to the end, become a living reality. The parable of the merciless servant, which crowns the Lord's teaching on ecclesial communion, ends with these words: "So also My heavenly Father will do to every one of you, if you do not forgive your brother from your heart." It is there, in fact, "in the depths of the heart," that everything is bound and loosed. It is not in our power not to feel or to forget an offense; but the heart that offers itself to the Holy Spirit turns injury into compassion and purifies the memory in transforming the hurt into intercession.

Christian prayer extends to the forgiveness of enemies, transfiguring the disciple by configuring him to his Master. Forgiveness is a high-point of Christian prayer; only hearts attuned to God's compassion can receive the gift of prayer. Forgiveness also bears witness that, in our world, love is stronger than sin. The martyrs of yesterday and today bear this witness to Jesus. Forgiveness is the fundamental condition of the reconciliation of the children of God with their Father and of men with one another.

There is no limit or measure to this essentially divine forgiveness, whether one speaks of "sins" as in Luke (11:4), "debts" as in Matthew (6:12). We are always debtors: "Owe no one anything, except to love one another." The communion of the Holy Trinity is the source and criterion of truth in every relationship. It is lived out in prayer, above all in the Eucharist. Catechism of the Catholic Church 2838 - 2845

Rimetti a noi i nostri debiti come noi li rimettiamo ai nostri debitori (Mt 6,12). O ineffabile clemenza di Dio! Non solo ci ha dato un modello di preghiera e ha stabilito una regola di vita che ci rende a lui accetti, ma offre a chi prega un'occasione e apre una via per rendere indulgente e misericordioso il giudizio su di noi: egli ci dà in certo modo la possibilità di addolcire noi stessi la nostra sentenza, di forzarlo al perdono delle nostre colpe con l'esempio della nostra indulgenza, poiché gli diciamo: Perdona a noi come noi perdoniamo agli altri. Se vogliamo essere giudicati benignamente anche noi dobbiamo mostrarci benigni verso coloro che ci hanno arrecato qualche offesa. Infatti ci sarà perdonato nella misura in cui avremo perdonato a loro, qualunque cattiveria ci abbiano fatto (Giovanni Cassiano, Collationes 9).

Nella tradizione ebraica, l'uomo era tenuto a perdonare il suo offensore fino a tre volte. Pietro pensa di aver fatto uno sforzo notevole, portando il numero da tre a sette: "fino a sette volte?" La risposta di Gesù è chiara: "Non ti dico fino a sette, ma fino a settanta volte sette". Il perdono nella comunità cristiana, cioè, è così essenziale che non può essere misurato, è importante come l'ossigeno nell'aria; al di fuori del perdono, la comunità cristiana non esisterebbe; dunque bisogna scegliere in modo radicale il perdono come regola di vita.

«A chi perdonare? A tutti coloro da cui pensiamo di aver ricevuto qualche torto, un trattamento ingiusto. A tutti coloro che ci hanno deluso, che non ci hanno dato quell'amore, quell'attenzione, quell'ascolto che ci saremmo attesi. Ci sono dentro di noi tante piccole ferite e amarezze: è necessario medicarle con l'olio e il balsamo di un continuo sincero perdono. Tutto ciò ci farà stare meglio, pure in salute, e ci farà gustare profondamente il perdono del Padre non solo per tutte le nostre colpe, ma anche per le nostre inadeguatezze, per tutto ciò che abbiamo negato a Dio e che egli poteva aspettarsi da noi in fiducia e amore, per tutti i nostri incalcolabili peccati di omissione» (C.M. Martini, Ritorno al Padre, n. 6c).

«Voi che entrate qui, riconciliatevi: il padre con il figlio, il marito con la moglie, il credente con colui che non può credere, il cristiano con il suo fratello separato» (Taizé, entrata della chiesa)
