He came to Nazareth, where he had grown up." Did you grow up in a small town? Whenever you see stories of tight-knit communities, a common refrain is that everybody knows everybody and that's very difficult to change. If you leave and return, people expect you to be and act a certain way, and it's strange for them if you do not. In today's Gospel, we see that Jesus was already moving "in the power of the Spirit and news of him spread throughout the whole region. He...was praised by all." His ministry has begun! News of his growing popularity must have proceeded him to Nazareth.

Upon his arrival, he "went according to his custom into the synagogue on the sabbath day." For the first few moments, he is what they expect - their hometown boy returning to pay his respects. As was common of men at the time, he takes a turn reading a passage of Sacred Scripture. It is a bold passage, one he selects intentionally. "He unrolled the scroll and found the passage where it was written: The Spirit of the Lord is upon me." After reading about holy anointings, liberation for the poor and prisoners, and physical healings, Jesus does the unthinkable. "Today this Scripture passage is fulfilled in your hearing."

We are all called to imitate Christ wherever we are. This might mean doing the unexpected! All too often we're content with the daily status quo, and so are the people around us. When we take a stand for Christian values, change our lifestyle to reflect the Gospel, and work for justice in society, we may make others uncomfortable. But Jesus doesn't call us to the same life we lived yesterday or the year before that. He is calling all of us - each and every one of us - to deeper conversion of heart. No matter what other people expect, will you love in the Spirit of the Lord today?

A Habit of the Catholic Heart

Are we ready to say grace? Many religious people pause before they eat and pray. Christians do this also. The English word we have for this prayer is "grace"—the same word we use to speak of the way God's love is given to us freely, given without any earning it on our part.

"Grace" comes easily from a Latin word, gratia, a word many know from the close Spanish word, gracias. This simple word is trying to get hold of what is best in the human spirit. It is that spontaneous "thanks" that is our response to a kindness, some good word or deed with which another person blesses us. So at table we say grace, we give thanks. Hunger brings us back to the table—even when there's no table at all—and before we take nourishment, we go hungry a moment longer while we give thanks.

What is done before eating is just one tiny moment of what's the deepest Catholic habit. We want "grace" all the time, morning and night, even in hard times. We are a "thanks saying" people. It comes with the territory. We're shaped in giving thanks by the obligation we have to gather at the church's table every Sunday and make the eucharistic, the thanks-giving, prayer before we feast on the body and blood of the Lord.

We're baptized to be Christ's body giving God thanks all the days of our life, being the voice of creation whether we feel like it or not, whether the times are good or awful (thanks can leave lots of room for lament and even—just pray the psalms—some cursing now and then). This is no easy "Hey, thanks a lot!" It is rather the total thanks of those who have been shaped by Christ's passion and death in God's merciful love for the world.

Catechism

As part of their Level 8 service, our students sang Christmas carols to the residents of Holy Family Home on Saturday. The Christmas season in the Ukrainian Church began on January 7. This was a wonderful opportunity for the students to be a gift to others and to show their appreciation and kindness to our elders.
