27th Sunday in Ordinary Time

About one-third of marriages end in divorce. The reasons for such an outcome are as varied as the individuals involved. Few of those who do divorce experience the high-profile questioning and scrutiny that public figures like celebrities or politicians do when they go through a divorce. Recent events in the past few months show that the private lives of public figures are never really private.

The Gospel this weekend tackles the closest of human relationships: the marriage of a man and a woman. In Mark's story, Jesus quotes the Book of Genesis, pushing together verses from the first and second chapters. In the first chapter of Genesis, humankind is created male and female in the divine image. In the second story of creation in chapter 2, the creation of woman is described as coming out of man, which is why the man now clings to his wife and the two become one.

In reflecting this biblical understanding of marriage, the church expects that a sacramental marriage between a man and a woman is permanent, a sign of the union between Christ and his people. At the same time, for a variety of reasons, the church recognizes that not every marriage may be a full and complete sacramental union. Sometimes the love that was professed on the wedding day was not a full and freely given consent to be joined together as one. That is why after a divorce, one or the other party may seek an annulment through the church, recognizing that the first union was not the full and complete sign of unity that is an example of Christ's complete love for us. If you, or someone you know, are divorced, please be a part of Sunday worship with the community of faith. If you've not yet spoken with a priest about your situation call the parish office to make a confidential appointment. As the Gospel suggests, Christ wants to embrace all his children.

Happy

Thanksgiving

*A Thanksgiving Day prayer, by Brian F. King,
 O Lord, with humble hearts we pray
 Thy blessing this Thanksgiving Day
 And ask that at table place,
 Where grateful folk say words of grace,
 That Thou will come to share the yield
 Thy bounty gave to farm and field.
 We pray thy love will bless, O Lord,
 Each hearth, each home, each festive board;
 And that Thy peace will come to stay
 Where candles glow, Thanksgiving Day.
 Amen*

Stewardship - October 7th – 27th Sunday in Ordinary Time

One of the great gifts of the stewardship lifestyle is the acute awareness that everything in life is a gift from God. This includes our relationships. Today's first reading and Gospel focus on marriage in particular. God, in His infinite wisdom, knows that we need 'helpers', that we should not be alone in our faith journey. In marriage, and in the relationships we enjoy with our sisters and brothers in the Body of Christ, good stewardship is doing whatever we can to help each other get to Heaven!

 October is Respect Life Month. We are reminded to value all human life and creation, especially the unborn, the poor and the vulnerable. Talk with your spouse and consider making a donation of goods, time or money to a group that helps those in need.
