December 20, 2015 - Fourth Sunday of Advent

FROM THE PASTOR'S DESK

Christmas is upon us! Shortly we will be celebrating the birth of Jesus into our world. For some it is a joyful time, full of festivities and families, old memories and the making of new ones. For others, it is a difficult time, one that reminds them of past hurts, of loneliness, of failings and shortcomings. For yet others, it is a time filled with so much stress and running around and indebtedness that there is nothing spiritual about it.

And yet, Jesus comes. He was not only born into this world some 2000 years ago, but he also comes into our hearts today—wherever we are, however we feel, whatever we're experiencing. Jesus comes to you, and to me. When Mary goes in haste to the hill country of Judea to see her kinswoman Elizabeth, she is already bringing Jesus to another. I think that is one of the great tasks of the Christian: to bring Jesus to another.

Our second reading this weekend, from the Letter to the Hebrews, has a line that has always intrigued me: "Sacrifices and offerings you have not desired, but a body you have prepared for me; ..." On one level, the sacred author is speaking of your body. It may be young or old, healthy or infirm; it may have led you to sin, or brought you to holiness. Regardless of circumstances, God has prepared a body for each one of us; God gave each one of us our body. In coming as Jesus, God has embraced all of human history and raised our lowly bodies to an incredible dignity. And, God then asks us to use our bodies to bring the good news of salvation to others. The Incarnation of Jesus means that we can be God-like in our very physicality. It is such a privilege, and such a challenge. It is why we worry about the physical beings of others; why we serve the poor, help refugees, and take care of our families. Our bodies are God-given!

As we celebrate these sacred days, be assured of my thoughts and prayers, and those of all the staff here at Assumption. May the Christ child coming into the world fill you with blessings and grace.

J. Maurice

Liturgy Corner

When we come together to do liturgy, we cease being an "I" and become a "we," the Body of Christ united through baptism, and joined together to give thanks and praise to God in Christ's name. North Americans are a particularly individualistic people, but our theology calls us to be counter-cultural, to be responsible to and for one another, to pray and sing together, not as individuals, but as a community.

Consider whom the prayers of the Mass are directed to.

If you listen to them, you will notice that it is God the Father. We all, every human, are children of the same Father. If we think of ourselves as individuals coming to worship, we lack the focus inherent in the liturgy itself. If we think of ourselves as the gathered assembly, the Body of Christ, come together to worship God in Christ's name, then it becomes understandable why the prayers are addressed to the Father... to whom Jesus also prayed.

Consciously listen to the prayers, all addressed to the Father, all first person plural, because liturgy is our communal prayer.

Throughout Advent one hymn has united all our weekend liturgies, Canticle of the Turning. Based on Mary's Magnificat (Luke 1:46-58) this beautiful hymn was written by Rory Cooney in 1990 and set to the tune of Star of the County Down, an Irish classic. Note the beautiful words, found in the Ritual Song hymnal #678.

Quotable Pope Francis

"If we were to forget, even just for a moment, that mercy is 'that which God likes most,' every one of our labors would be useless because we would become slaves of our institutions and our structures, however renewed they might be"

Church Humour

Out of the mouths of babes A pastor was speaking to a group of second-graders about the resurrection of Jesus when one student asked, "What did Jesus say right after He came out of the grave?" The pastor explained that the Gospels do not tell us what He said.

The hand of one little girl shot up. "I know what He said: He said, 'Tah-dah!'"
