Solemnity of Easter
March 31, 2013

Acts 10: 34-43; Ps. 117; Colossians 3:1-4; John 20:1-9

Today's Easter gospel, which tells of the coming-to-faith of Peter and the beloved disciple, is neither the most beautiful nor most moving of those testimonies to the resurrection which all four gospels contain. But it is especially appropriate for us; unlike the loving women, we have not encountered angels at an empty tomb or been surprised by Christ's appearing. Our belief must rest on God's word in scripture and the witness of those before us. (Peter's homily in Acts is an example of the earliest preaching). But our faith rests also on our own encounters with Christ through the persons and events of our lives. For his rising is not only historical fact. Time cannot confine him: Christ lives today! Our communion with him is still hidden, our lives still swayed by evil. But one day Christ will be fully revealed; we shall join him in victory and live in the Father's glory. Easter calls us to become new people, full of the joy of the living and glorious Lord.

Christ has died, alleluia! Christ is risen, alleluia! Christ will come again, alleluia!
