Fourth Sunday of Lent—March 6, 2016

FROM THE PASTOR'S DESK

At the parish where I grew up in Houston, there was a family that was quite involved in the parish. You could count on them to be around when the church needed them, whether that was the pastor, the Knights of Columbus, the Altar Society, or whatever else. They were at Mass every Sunday. One day everybody was so surprised to learn that one of their sons had been arrested and charged with murder. Eventually he was tried and found guilty. They were crushed, yet they never wavered in their love and support for their son. I think that these loving parents mirrored, in a sense, the father that we hear about in this weekend's gospel passage, commonly known as "the story of the Prodigal Son." Actually it would probably be more aptly named "the story of the Compassionate Father."

It's hard for us in 21st century western culture to realize just how powerful that story is, and how shocking it must have been for its first century Jewish audience. For the son to have asked for his inheritance it would be the same as telling the father, "You are dead to me. I want nothing to do with you ever again." And, if he were to come back, society would dictate that the father would be sternly seated on his chair while the son came grovelling back, begging for some measure of forgiveness. Instead, we hear the story of a man who is already out looking for his son (the only way he would have caught sight of him while still a long way off), who then goes running to meet him! People would have been shocked to hear this. The father goes even further by putting a ring on his finger and having a big welcome party. Meanwhile, we all know the story of the elder son, who is upset at the father's forgiveness. That would be a more common situation for most of us, I would guess. Why would we want our father to go against society's norms? Why wouldn't we want that renegade brother punished for his misdeeds?

All in all, it's a pretty shocking picture of our God. Most of us tend to think of the father in the story as being a portrait of our own loving God. Think about it, though: Neither of his sons turned out perfectly. One disowned him, and the other won't forgive. For me, that gives great hope to parents whose children did not turn out exactly as they would have hoped. Most of you have not had to deal with your child murdering someone, or disowning you (although I'm sure some have). For most of us, it is something more mundane: My daughter is not married in the church. My son doesn't come to church any more. My child uses drugs, or drinks too much. I don't like the way they're raising the grandkids. Many examples abound. The message here today, though, is how each of us is called to be a model of mercy and forgiveness. It is one of the clearest examples in Scripture of God as the very face of mercy. I pray that we do the same.

Fr. Maurice

Father Robert Holmes CSB will be speaking in Rosary Hall on Sunday March 6, 2016 at 3:00 pm
The Topic will be Walking with Jesus toward Jerusalem: A Peacemaker's Journey

Liturgy Corner

Popular devotional practices are not part of the Church's official liturgy but serve to enhance our spiritual lives. They are often tied closely to culture. Examples include pilgrimages, novenas, processions and celebrations in honor of Mary and the other saints, the rosary, the Angelus, the Stations of the Cross, the veneration of relics, and the use of sacramentals. They must lead us to liturgy and never replace it.

A popular devotion during Lent is the Stations of the Cross. Few people can go to Jerusalem to literally retrace Jesus' footsteps to the Calvary, so we make a spiritual journey recalling its key events, or stations. The value to this devotion happens when we connect Jesus' journey to our own. Even today the Passion of Christ continues in current suffering, and the Stations reveal that to us. When we suffer from illness, oppression, etc. the Stations remind us that we follow one who suffered too, and united to him our own suffering leads to new life. We are using various sets of reflections that help us to do that.

—Kevin Mannara C.S.B.

Holy Heroes Lenten Adventure

Each Sunday during Lent there will be a special program during the 11am Mass for children ages 3 to 7.

Holy Heroes Lenten Adventure will have fun activities appropriate for that age level to help them develop in faith. The children will be dismissed during the Opening Rite and return before the Lord's Prayer.

YEAR of MERCY

In three days, on Wednesday, March 9, all Catholics throughout the Diocese of London will have the opportunity to share in God's healing and forgiveness. We need to ask for the grace to abandon all that keeps us from living a full relationship with Christ. We need to allow the Lord to wash away our sins in his forgiving love and mercy and to make us whole once again.

Our Day of Confessions will be held in
Rosary Chapel--University Avenue & Huron Church Road
9:00am to 11:30am
1:00pm to 5:00pm
