Twenty-Fourth Sunday in Ordinary Time—September 11, 2016

FROM THE PASTOR'S DESK

I have mentioned in the past that I am a member of an ecumenical group called Christian Peacemaker Teams (CPT). We focus on non-violent peacemaking, and are in some difficult hotspots around the world. One of those places is Hebron, where I have served in the past, and where I will be again from October 3rd to 22nd.

In this weekend's first reading, Moses asks God to remember his servants Abraham, Isaac, and Israel (Jacob). According to the book of Genesis, these three patriarchs and their wives are buried in the cave purchased by Abraham to bury his wife Sarah, in the city of Hebron. For hundreds of years a mosque has stood on top of this cave. In 1968, after the six-day war, a group of Jewish people from Brooklyn came to Hebron and announced they were not leaving. Since then, Jewish Israeli settlers have been living in the midst of the old city of Hebron. The situation is difficult, tense, and complicated. Military checkpoints are scattered in the old city, and many people have to pass through daily: children going to school, workers trying to get to their jobs, and people going to the mosque to pray. CPT and other international peace groups monitor checkpoints and respond to emergencies of different kinds. Some days are nonstop, filled with stress, and others are quiet and boring. Most days are somewhere in between.

I joined CPT after much prayer and discernment, working with my spiritual director, and getting the blessing of the Basilian General Council. I know it is a big commitment. I ask your patience and indulgence. I will do my best to ensure that all parish activities are covered in my absence. I like to think of it as tithing your pastor to do justice work. I also ask for your generosity. This is the only activity for which I will ask for money for myself. I am to raise $1,450 to pay for my expenses while there. I invite you to consider helping support this endeavour. It is a way for you to get involved a bit more closely with justice work. Regardless of any financial contribution you may or may not care to make, I ask for your prayer. Prayer is important; it changes hearts; it makes us more aware. I also invite you to an evening of slides and a talk about what I'll be doing, to be held Monday, September 26th, at 7:00pm in Rosary Hall.

Quotable Pope Francis

The best practitioners of God's mercy are those who know that they themselves are forgiven and are then sent to help others. We see this with addiction counselors. So too, the best confessors are usually themselves good penitents.

CONGRATULATIONS!!!
