September 14, 2014 Exaltation of the Holy Cross

In today's Gospel, Jesus reminds Nicodemus how Moses had "lifted up the serpent in the desert." Then Jesus says, "So must the Son of Man be lifted up, that all who believe may have eternal life in him." The evangelist clearly saw this "lifting up" of Jesus to mean his crucifixion. That "lifting up" of the serpent by Moses is described in today's first reading. The people were attacked by "saraph serpents," and many died. God had Moses make an image of the serpent and put it on a pole and lift it up. The people who had been bitten looked at it and recovered. Jesus "emptied himself, taking the form of a slave." Lifted up on the cross, he was despised and seemed the most abject of people. But it was in embracing this disgrace and painful death that he became the bearer of eternal life for all of us. His "lifting up" in shame was also his "lifting up" in glory and triumph.

Do you sometimes wish you could meditate while writing? Experiment a new way of being present to your own story? Remain present in the tumult of life? Or, are you searching for a process to come to a life-decision? If so, join us for this 1st journaling session where we will explore our inner garden by means of unsuspected doorways. This solitary work lived out within a group allows us to uncover hidden treasure in the shadows. You will receive a journal notebook for these sessions!

Facilitator: Marie-Anne Quenneville osu

Suggested offering: $30 includes lunch and supplies

Parking Lot

Now that University students are back, you may notice a bottleneck at the entrance to the parking lot, and you can't get into the parking lot or onto the street as quickly as you would like.

We appreciate your patience in these circumstances. We count on your gentleness with each other and the parking attendants.

Similarly, you may occasionally be questioned upon entering the lot by the attendants.

Please accord them every courtesy.

Theirs is not an easy job.
