Working wonders for families...

Young John had spent far too many years of his young life in terror about what would happen to his mom, himself and his siblings, because of the violence in his home. At 12 years of age, he felt alone and he felt responsible. It was John who called 911, which led to his mom leaving the abusive situation, and it was that incident that got his family involved with the Safer Families Program for help. Through the domestic violence programming, John learned that he was not the only kid who had this happening in his home...and most importantly, he learned that it was not his fault. He was able to get his feelings out, and learn new ways of coping...different from what he had witnessed in his home, so that he could have a chance at a different kind of life that to which he had been exposed to in his first 12 years. Catholic Family services offices collectively reach over 125,000 clients, serving them in more than 25 languages.

EMBRACING OUR LITTLENES AS A CHILD
BEFORE GOD

The first characteristic of a child and that which first strikes us is its littleness. In the supernatural order we must likewise first of all recognize our littleness. This is the disposition that characterizes our true condition and puts us in our right place before God. To be little spiritually means to be humble. Littleness, however, implies a certain simplicity, an effective note of sweet self-effacement.

To a sister who asked Therese, of Lisieux, what she meant by remaining a little child before God, she answered: “It means that we acknowledge our nothingness, await everything from the good Lord, refuse to attribute to ourselves the virtues we practice, but believe that we are incapable of doing anything that is good.” This, in fact, is what humility is: to acknowledge that we possess nothing ourselves but expect everything from Him; to refer to Him the little good we discover in ourselves or happen to do; to see ourselves, in other words, as we are: weak, powerless, poor and wretched.

It is primarily because humility puts us in our right place, in our true condition, that Therese makes humility the basis of her Little Way: “It seems to me that humility is truth. I don't know whether I am humble, but I know I see the truth in all things.”

To that first reason she added another, and one that is truly Theresian. It is the fact, namely, that “It is proper to divine love to lower itself; hence, the lower we are, the more we attract God”; on the contrary, when we lift ourselves up, we go counter to that movement of love.

Finally, Therese practiced humility out of love, to prove her love: To ravish Thee, quite little I shall remain; my self-forgetting, I'll charm Thy loving Heart.”
