

St. Paul the Apostle and Immaculate Conception Churches

Graced by the constant, loving presence of God - Father, Son and Holy Spirit - in our lives, energized by the intercession of Mary and the great Communion of Saints, and grounded in the Sacred Scripture, Tradition, Catholic Teaching, Sacrament and Prayer, we, parishioners of St. Paul the Apostle Parish, reach out to embrace all of God's children, encouraging them to receive the gift of eternal salvation, accept Jesus Christ as their Lord, and follow in his footsteps. We declare our solidarity with the poor of the world, and pledge to help them by sharing our love and bounty.

30th Sunday in Ordinary Time ~ 28 October 2018

“Son of David, have mercy on me!” Jesus stood still and said, “Call him here.” And they called the blind man, saying to him, “Take heart; get up, he is calling you.” So throwing off his cloak, he sprang up and came to Jesus. Then Jesus said to him, “What do you want me to do for you?” The blind man said to him, “My teacher, let me see again.” Mark 10: 48c – 49, 51

FROM THE DESK OF FR. GLASS:

Atheists say the darndest things.

Stephen Hawking was a brilliant scientist and an ardent atheist. His best-selling book of 1988, A Brief History of Time, explored the limits of our knowledge of the universe. He died earlier this year but his “last writings” have now been published as A Brief Answer to the Big Questions.

According to Hawking:

The role played by time at the beginning of the universe is, I believe, the final key to removing the need for a Grand Designer, and revealing how the universe created itself. You can’t get to a time before the Big Bang, because there was no time before the Big Bang. We have finally found something that does not have a cause because there was no time for a cause to exist in. Time didn’t exist before the Big Bang, so there is no time for God to make the universe in.

It so happens that this same topic was addressed by St. Augustine 1600 years ago in relation to the first words of the book of Genesis — “In the beginning, God created the heavens and the earth.” The question was asked: “What was God doing before he created the universe?”

My response is not: “He was preparing Hell for those who ask impertinent questions.” It is one thing to make fun of the questioner and another to find the answer.

A foolish person might wonder why God should have allowed countless ages to elapse before he finally undertook the vast work of creation. But his wonder is based on a misconception. How could those countless ages have elapsed when You, the Creator, in whom all ages have their origin, had not yet created them? What time could there have been that was not created by You? How could time elapse if it never was?

You are the maker of all time. If then there was any time before you made heaven and earth, how can anyone say you were idle? You must have made that time, for time could not elapse before You made it.

If there was no time before heaven and earth were created, how could anyone ask what you were doing before “then”? If there was no time, there was no “then”.

Both St. Augustine and Hawking understand that time is the measure of physical change. If there is no physical universe in which things change, then there is no time.

Stephen Hawking was right in not believing in a Creator who exists in time. St. Augustine did not believe in that kind of Creator either. As the late Fr. R. J. Neuhaus wrote: “I have in my time read more than my share of arguments for atheism and have yet to encounter one that is aimed at debunking the God in whom I believe. Put differently, I, too, do not believe in the God in whom they do not believe.”

As Pope Leo XIII pointed out: “When men withdraw their intellect from divine truths they are less fitted to succeed in the pursuit even of natural science. This is why we often see men of great intellectual power and erudition making the grossest blunders even in natural science.”

Saint of the Week:

You must strive with all possible care to please God in such a manner as neither to do nor behold anything, without first consulting Him, and in everything to seek Him alone and His glory. - Saint Alphonsus Rodriguez (1532-1617), Patron Saint of Jesuit Brothers, Feast Day October 30
