Ruminations

I have had a couple of comments about my rather relaxed selected footwear of late – my very comfortable and highly practical slippers. In these topsy turvy days, it certainly is function over form. In fact, it reminds me a lot of university days. In a program that combined physical education and commerce into a unique sports administration, the first two years pretty much required us to live in track pants and running shoes every day. The great thing about it was that we were required also to wear the official gym shirt and shorts and at the end of the day, figuratively speaking, we handed them in to get cleaned and picked up a fresh set. They did the laundry. Third year was a strictly commerce year and it had its own vibe. They tried to create a very business environment, so the track pants and gym knapsack had to give way to long sleeve shirts and briefcases, no matter how impractical walking to class in the cold winters of Sudbury. All the classes were held in the commerce building and so the only time we made it to the phys ed complex was for a program meetings, the Spad (SPorts ADministration = SpAd) Lad student organization, or to watch the women's basketball games. We had a couple of varsity players and so we all went over to support them. As the song goes, it is either bingo on a Sudbury Saturday night or not much else. My brand new third year briefcase was a Christmas gift from my parents and it was one of those rare few occasions where their taste and my taste matched. Although my heart was on the sports side of the program, while walking to class with my notes and text books snug in that briefcase, I felt like an administrative big shot. There was a class of cultures between the pure commerce students and the sports administration students. They were all serious and overly determined, while we were more fun loving and dedicated. Anyway, I loved that briefcase and it was unfortunate that it was lost on one of the moves from parish to parish. Even St. Antony couldn't solve this one. Well, the recent interruption to the normal ebb and flow of a daily routine has generated a whole series of new norms. Since we are all de-invited from venturing forth, then the whole 'what to wear' decisions have lost their sense of urgency or necessity. So the new way of attiring is really a reverting to the old way, track pants all day and every day – well except for those occasions requiring more appropriate attire like funeral services or emergency hospital calls. And let's face it, the alb (that white gown that is worn under the chasuble or outer garment) covers a multitude of sins, or at least clothing styles. Now there is a list of things that I would like to get done before life returns to some semblance of normalcy, and most of them require comfortable working gear so the most practical thing to get to work each day is a comfortable pair of shoes, and a working set of track pants. So what does a priest wear under his alb? Sorry, but that is under the seal of the confessional.

Announcements and Events...

Many people have been seeking ways to continue to support our Parish during these times of upheaval and confusion. If you would like to contribute, there are instructions contained in the bulletin of April 19, 2020 which can be found in the Bulletin Archives on the Parish website.

A Little Resurrection...

As much as the news is filled with doom and gloom, sometimes we can continue to look down and see the muck and mire, or we can look up and see the sun and the stars. Here are some observations thus far into the pandemic.

We have people joining us for our live streamed Masses from across the country, from North Vancouver, British Columbia, to Jamestown, Newfoundland, and internationally from various parts of the United States, to Scotland and Kuwait. Talk about a distinctly catholic (universal gathering).

Instead of four semi-distinct congregations, (4:30, 8:00, 9:30 & 11:00 masses) we are enjoying a unity of Parish community, and all these parishioners are encountering (albeit remotely) other parishioners whom they have not had occasion to meet.

We have more people attending weekday masses on line than we ever had as part of a weekday assembly.

We have experimented with the various media and are discovering new options to celebrate our faith—Stations of the Cross, Holy Hour, and our newest edition, a weekly Breathing Open of the Word. My next project is to discover how to celebrate either Morning Prayer and/or Evening Prayer on line and what that will look like.

All because of a little virus.

Resurrection is exciting!

Please note that our physical Parish Office is closed until further notice.

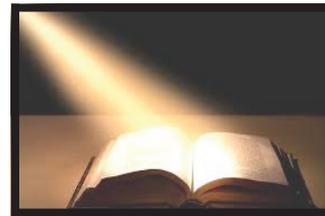

Ann will continue to work remotely. The best way to reach her is through email at our parish email st.elizabethseton@rogers.com.

Sacramental Corner.....

Participate in our New Feature

If you have never experienced

Breaking Open of the Word On Line, you are in for a treat. Starting on Wednesday, April 22nd, following the 10 am Morning Mass, Stephen Bradford, the co-ordinator of the monthly Breaking Open of the Word has agreed to lead our on-line congregation through this 10 -15 minute exercise in encountering the richness of our Gospels. This is an important technique that allows those in the RCIA to be rooted in the message of Jesus. Following the 10 am Mass, you are invited to sit for a bit as Stephen leads us through this delving into the message of the Gospel. It makes it the Living Word. Please give it a shot. You will be glad you did.

Monday to Thursday Mass will be livestreamed at 10am. Sunday Mass will also be livestreamed at 10am until further notice.

All Masses and Celebrations will be live streamed through Facebook Video and if you are not on Facebook, go to the Parish Website for a link to the live streaming. ON the front page there is a link that says “Click here”. Click there and it will take you to the Facebook livestream even if you are not a Facebook subscriber.
