Alcoholic Anonymous meet every Saturday at 8pm Knights of Columbus room.

The good news is that my rash was not caused by apples, nor any other food. I finally went to the walk in clinic where they eliminated a food allergy and shingles as a cause. The doctor prescribed a steroid cream that she threatened me not to allow it to touch any skin but the affected area for fear that it thins the skin. My thought was to rub in over my stomach in the hopes that... never mind. I knew I was going to see my doctor within a week or two so I opted not to use it and wait for his second opinion. His second opinion was to send me to a dermatologist. So a week later I was off to Oak Ridges Medical Clinic which was exciting because it was literally around the corner from where my mother grew up- not that the area has any resemblance to visits to grandma's house. The office was on the fourth floor and as I found the number I thought I was in the wrong place. It was posh. It was more like a salon on Rodeo drive. There was inviting subdued lighting, and shelves of beauty and dermatological products creatively displayed. The staff must be used to confused patients visiting for the first time because they immediately welcomed me in and asked for my health card. She handed me a clipboard with a pen attached and led me to the waiting room furnished with a television and coffee bar. As much as it seemed hospitable, I assumed that it was to disguise the long wait to see the doctor. I settled in to fill out the two page form and I barely got my name written when I was called to see the doctor. I protested a bit saying I haven't finished filling out the form but I was assured that I could fill it out after the appointment. No sooner had I sat down when this 'teenage' doctor entered introducing himself. I can't remember his name because I was expecting him to say "Doogie Howser". He must have started medical school upon graduating senior kindergarten. So he picked up a special flashlight and started looking at the rashes. He said the remnants of the one on the arms looks like eczema. Then he looked at the legs and torso and said they looked like psoriasis. He went on to explain the difference about two branches of the immune system and if it is manifested from the one branch it is eczema and if from the other psoriasis. I apparently suffer from the heartbreak of psoriasis. The reference was lost on him. Kids! He then asked to see my finger nails. After the posh reception room I thought I might be getting a manicure. He then asked me about something that may have triggered it as he thinks it is stressed related. I told him the only thing I can think of is the recent losing streak of the Toronto Maple Leafs. He thought that was unlikely. I showed him the cream prescribed by the walk in clinic and he said it was too mild and so he prescribed a spray that I have to use once a day for four weeks with two repeats because I may need more spray because of the vastness of the rash. I was done and returned to the waiting room to complete my form, and then handed it in at the posh reception desk where they handed me my prescription. In all, it took me longer to find a parking spot than to complete my appointment. Fr. Roy

CWG NEWS

The CWG would like to thank everyone who came out and supported their Annual Christmas Bazaar on Saturday, November 9. We had a wonderful turnout and it was heartwarming to see the fellowship of everyone who came out to support us. A special thank-you to our Parish family for rising to the challenge and providing home-made pies, cakes, cookies, etc., for the Bake Table, which sold out before the Bazaar finished! Thank you also to those who came and helped with the set-up and tear-down, our CWG members who helped in the kitchen and on the CWG tables, Chris Harbour for looking after the sound system, the high school students who helped sell tickets, and a special mention to our MC, Alice Dionne, for making everyone feel welcome as they entered the hall and browsed around. Finally, congratulations to everyone who won prizes at the various raffles, and a list of prize winners is posted on the notice board in the foyer of the Church. Here's to next year!

Offering Envelopes

The parish offering envelopes will be available for pick up in the foyer the First Sunday of Advent.

CONFIRMATION RETREAT

Friday November 29th 6:30-9:00pm
Candidates Only Need Attend!

All candidates should arrive 10 minutes early and meet in the parish hall. See friends and meet new young people while enjoying a few hours of reflection and fun. Enjoy the night! Parents please pick up your children promptly at 9pm.

ADULT FAITH FORMATION SESSION (Communion and Confirmation Parents)

If you did not attend on of the sessions please plan to join us on Saturday November 30th from 10am to Noon. We enjoyed lively discussions, inspiring words from Catherine Ecker and we were challenged to "lift our minds and hearts to God," and spend time in silence.

First Reconciliation Retreat

Our first retreat was a blessed time shared together, children and parents enjoying a close encounter with God. If you missed the retreat contact Jennifer McAvoy. Please make as a priority in your busy week reading and discussion the Reconciliation Workbook. Remember this is a family based program for parents and children to share together.

Breaking Open the Word

The Word of God is alive and speaks to each of us in a unique way. Very similar to Lectio Divina, Breaking Open the Word provides an opportunity to pray, reflect and encounter the gospel reading for the upcoming Sunday on a personal level and experience how the living word intersects with our lives today.

You are invited to explore the Word of God and how it is speaking to you through Breaking Open the Word Wednesday December 4, 2019 @ 7:00 – 8:30 p.m

Let us pray for the sick...
