I remember the very first time I took a trip on a plane. I had finished university and took some time that summer to decompress. It helped that the country was in a recession and there were no jobs for Sports Administrators. I had even applied for a couple of postings in what was then Frobisher Bay. It so happened that the Toronto Blue Jays were sponsoring a banner contest. The idea was to make a banner that gets paraded around the old stadium at the CNE and the winner would win a trip to Florida. Well my banner required two people to carry it. As luck would have it I won a trip to St. Pete's Beach and that meant I was boarding a jet for the very first time. As nerve racking as it was, what I really remember is getting off the plane and feeling like I was hitting a wall of hot, humid air in Tampa airport. The other memory is playing tennis around midnight because it was too hot in the daytime. My first priestly vacation trip as a priest was to the Holy Land. No, not overseas in the Middle East, but to the Holy Land called Banff. It started as a bit of a disaster. It was my first real trip and so as a pure neophyte at this travel thing, I didn't realize I needed all these chits that the agent had entrusted to me. I just assumed that all my destinations had all my required permits, chits, information. I was wrong. Rolling into my hotel late at night, I discovered I had left all my pertinent paperwork on the plane in Calgary. Anyway, eventually with lots of phone calls the next morning back to Sears Travel, the agent straightened everything and I had a great stay fulfilling a childhood dream of skiing Sunshine Village and Lake Louise. That is when I fell in love with the Rocky Mountains. I made one more trip out there before changing venues to Whistler. There was a group of us who went out there for ten years in a row, but bum knees, and out of condition priests are not a great formula for enjoying time on the slopes, though two of the runs remain all time highlights, 7th Heaven and Whiskey Jack. There is nothing like gliding down the gentle turns on a sunny day. For me a highlight on vacation is peace and quiet. I like a monastic feel, no talking or interacting, just quietly communing in a natural setting. So

I am off to the Kawartha's for a couple of days. It is too hard to get the four weeks away to which we are entitled, but I hope on the serene lakes in a kayak of the Kawartha's will be therapeutic and refreshing. Music, books and journal is my own version of 7th heaven. Gone fishing.....I mean kayaking. Fr. Roy

NOTICE

Fr. Roy will be away from after morning mass on Sept. 14th until Sept. 20th. There will be no morning mass September 19th & 20th.
