Dear parishioners,

I'm sure that right now things are harder for all of us as we have entered another lockdown. Unlike April, this one is much more serious and will take all courage and strength to get through. I realize how hard it is to be separated from those we love as I am personally experiencing that right now in terms of my own immediately family. I appreciate for those who live alone that it can even be harder. On top of all the restrictions, we cannot even have a public celebration of Mass right now, other than our livestream. Do I miss being with you as a community? Absolutely! I'm sure we are all missing a sense of normalcy in our lives in the midst of this pandemic. All of the key foundations appear to have been taken away from us for the most part. Nevertheless, this is a time where we need to search for Jesus Christ who is in our midst--He never abandons us in the midst of trouble--in fact He is closer to us in this time than we may recognize. He invites us to turn to him with our loneliness, our broken dreams and hopes, our anxieties and fears. He wants to take them away from us and give us peace, hope, belonging, love and wholeness. However, we cannot have those things unless we are willing to admit what we don't have and what we really need. We need to surrender everything to Him--if we do, eventually it will be transformed, and we can find new life in the midst of this pandemic.

I know it is tough to obey the public health orders right now. Yet it is absolutely critical that we do. This is why we as a church are staying closed to help mitigate the spread of the virus. To that end, we ask that there be no gatherings inside the church or on church property at this time. The only exceptions are for those working with the livestream Mass. To the best of our knowledge we have not had a case connected to public worship in the parish. However, the test positivity rates are so high in our city and province and we also know that there is asymptomatic transmission of the COVID-19 virus going on. So in truth, even though we may not be the main source of transmission, we need to do our part to arrest the spread by participating in the lockdown. Likewise, it is hard not to get together with others outside of our own household right now, but it is essential for the same reasons as above. The impact of COVID-19 has been devastating for us as a province in terms of the number of people who have died, the numbers of those whose health has been severely altered for a time or possibly permanently by the virus as well. There has been much suffering for many Manitobans and our healthcare resources are almost tapped out. Therefore, it makes sense that we need to follow the rules. The right to life trumps our personal desires and wants at this time. There is no doubt that our personal freedoms are being taken away for a time. It will not be permanent though--this is a time for us to unite our suffering with that of Jesus Christ on the cross so as to bring about special graces for all of us during the pandemic. I would ask that we would refrain from giving in to a spirit of pride and rebellion that is centered around our personal freedoms. Freedom is not real freedom unless it produces the fruits of Christian love. Also, I do not believe there is a conspiracy going on right now--please do not get caught up in the junk speculations that are appearing all over social media, suggesting that the entire pandemic was a government plan to bring about an end to religious freedom. Unfortunately, these false platforms are confusing and deceiving good Christians right now and distracting them from embracing the cross of Christ and dying to self for the good of all. We need to continue to pray for each other to stay strong and faithful to Christ.

I don't know if we will get to celebrate Christmas in a public way this year as of yet--but we can certainly hope and pray. God will triumph over the virus--the virus is for a time, God is eternal and forever, all-powerful and almighty. It is time that we put our complete trust in Him to make things right, especially at a time like this when in truth we really have no control over the situation. Be assured of my prayers for all of us as a parish during this critical time and I thank you for your continued support for me and the parish as a whole. May God bless you with all you need in His love and may He keep you safe from all evil and harm.

Yours in the Lord,

Fr. Michael,

Pastor
