Happy Father's Day
to all Fathers and Father figures in our lives!

In Genesis the first humans are given responsibility for caring for creation, but despite this it hasn't always been a strong theme of Christian thinking over the last 2000 years. Care for creation is even a latecomer to Catholic Social Teaching. Now the world's resources grow scarcer, caring responsibly for creation is being considered more of a way to ensure respect for human dignity and peace than an end in itself.

Creation provides us with the physical fabric of our lives; the natural environment gives us the stuff we use every day. It gives us the food for our tables, the material for our clothes and the materials to build our houses and churches. It is also a place where people have experienced a great closeness with God through its beauty and wonder. Creation is a gift from God and provides us with these things, the basics for our lives, yet it can so easily and so often be taken for granted.

Modern technology has given us a huge amount of benefits that have helped alleviate suffering and create new methods of solidarity among people. At the same time, we can also see how it has made it easier for us to become alienated from our environment, and it's given new and efficient ways to plunder the world's natural resources en masse. Care for Creation ensures that we don't neglect, but protect and respect the gift that is our natural environment. - Care for Creation, catholicsocialteaching.org.uk/themes/care-creation/

THIS OLD CHURCH OF OURS

It was Day 73 of the Covid-19 Lockdown. The days were sunny and hot this week. So, any painting up on the Church's roof would need to be done early in the morning. I was on the roof of the Parish Hall painting the hall's heating and cooling system's gas line yellow by 7:00 a.m. Once the gas line was painted, it was up to the main roof of this old Church to paint the boiler's chimney black with a high-gloss alkyd rust paint. The last time this chimney was painted was when the roof was done back in 1999. While on the roof with the black paint, it was time to paint the boiler room's fresh air intake stack and the adjacent exhaust vent. Over the second floor's kitchenette, there is a small exhaust vent. It too needed some refinishing. So, it received a fresh coat of the black rust paint as well.

It's been nearly 21 years since the Church's roof was renovated and upgraded. For its age, the roof is holding up pretty well. Sure. There are some areas that will need some attention in time, but, that is totally understandable. Our Canadian winters can be harsh at times.

In the second floor's kitchenette ceiling, you could tell that some water from roof above was coming in. But where? While on the roof, I found a few cracks within the aged caulking of the second floor's air conditioner's pitch pocket. The pitch pocket is where the electrical wiring and the condensate lines pass through the roof. Thankfully, I had a can of black roof sealant on hand at this old Church to seal the pitch pocket. Hopefully, this will resolve the water leak above the kitchenette.

Stay safe. Stay well. Stay connected. And, until next time, this is Michael Pollard for THIS OLD CHURCH OF OURS.
