Catholic Education Week 2013 will be celebrated this week from May 5 – May 10. This year's theme, Catholic Education: Growing Together in Faith, finds its biblical source in the Gospel of Matthew, "For truly, I tell you, if you have faith the size of a mustard seed, you will say to this mountain, 'Move from here to there and it will move; and nothing will be impossible for you'" (Matthew 17:10) and in St. Paul's letter to the Ephesians, "...that Christ may dwell in your hearts through faith, as you are being rooted and grounded in love." (Ephesians 3:17) During this week, schools will be celebrating the enduring gift of Catholic education with special prayers and presentations. We ask that the parish community to pray for our Catholic schools, so that they may continue to bear witness to the Gospel as they strive to grow together in faith.

Many Catholics today are rightly concerned about the state of our natural environment. In order to assist them, the Episcopal Commission for Justice and Peace of the Canadian Conference of Catholic Bishops (CCCCB) is offering this modest outline of eight central themes found in recent Church teaching on the environment. These reflect on how a Catholic approach to economic questions, social justice, and environmental questions are necessarily viewed in relation to each other. It is hoped that these themes will serve as a guide to discussion, reflection, and decision-making on the very real environmental problems we face today.

To help those who wish to reflect on and discuss the Church's teaching on the environment, the CCCB is making available the following series of nine excerpts for insertion into our bulletins. The brief texts are from the central themes and the conclusion of the Commission's document, which is entitled Building a New Culture: Central Themes in Recent Church Teaching on the Environment.

First central theme in recent Church teaching on the environment

1. Human Beings are Creatures Made in God's Image

Human beings are part of the natural world, yet simultaneously transcend it. There are two key elements here: (1) human beings are creatures, i.e., we are not God. We are therefore not to act with god-like domination over the rest of creation, but rather to recognize that creation comes to us as a gift from our Creator. (2) Unique among creatures, we are created in God's image, and therefore bear an inestimable dignity.
