PREPARING FOR THE IMPLEMENTATION OF THE NEW REVISED ROMAN MISSAL

LITURGY CHANGES COMING -- 8

The Eucharistic Prayer, the highpoint of the entire liturgy, begins with what is called the Preface Dialogue. It begins with the priest's greeting: The Lord be with you, and the new response: And with your spirit. The second part is unchanged. However, the final part of the dialogue is changed in the assembly's response to match the Latin text: Dignum et iustum est. The new response is: It is right and just. The priest will then take up this response and continue the prayer with these words: It is truly right and just...

The words of the Holy, Holy, Holy (Sanctus) have been changed only in the first line. Instead of saying: Holy, holy, holy Lord, God of power and might, we will say: Holy, Holy, Holy Lord God of Hosts. This translates: Sanctus, Sanctus, Sanctus Dominus Deus Sabaoth. According to the punctuation in the present text, the words "God of power and might" describe the Lord. In the new text, "Holy Lord God of hosts" is the name by which we are addressing God. The word "hosts" refers to the armies or groups of angels around the throne of God. See the vision in the Book of the Prophet Isaiah (6.3).

The invitation to the memorial acclamation has changed. Instead of the priest interrupting the Eucharistic Prayer with an admonition or instruction addressed to the assembly (Let us proclaim the mystery of faith), he will simply say: The mystery of faith. This matches the Latin: Mysterium fidei. The familiar first form of the acclamation: Christ has died, Christ is risen, Christ will come again, has never been in the Latin edition of the Roman Missal, and therefore, will not be found in the new English edition. Instead, the fuller Latin text has been freshly translated and included: We proclaim your Death, O Lord, and profess your Resurrection, until you come again. The other two acclamations have likewise been retranslated as follows:

When we eat this Bread and drink this Cup,
we proclaim your Death, O Lord, until you come again.
Save us, Saviour of the world,
for by your Cross and Resurrection you have set us free.

During the Communion Rite there is a notable change (to match the Latin text) in the invitation which the priest extends and in the assembly's response

Priest: Behold the Lamb of God, behold him who takes away the sins of the world:
    Blessed are those called to the Supper of the Lamb.

All: Lord, I am not worthy that you should enter under my roof, but only say the word and my soul shall be healed.

The priest's text echoes the words of John the Baptist (John 1.29) and the words from the Book of Revelation 19.9. The assembly's response echoes the words of the Roman Centurion, found in Matthew 8.8.
