Fr. Martin's Thanksgiving

Reflection: In popular legend, Thanksgiving is associated with those who crossed the Atlantic in the Mayflower for a new life in this country. Their journey reminds us of a journey in Sacred Scripture. The Letter to the Hebrews tells us that the rest which the Hebrews found in Canaan after leaving Egypt was not the final rest (Heb 4). There is a sabbath rest for God's people, the rest at the end of our lives. The journey from Egypt to Canaan was really anticipating the journey we all make as Christians. Just as the Hebrews crossed through the water during the Exodus, in Baptism we make the exodus water crossing to a new life in Christ. Metaphorically we wander for forty years in the desert of this life, and at the end we cross the Jordan into the Promised Land of Heaven.

So today we want, above all, to give thanks to God for what he has done for us in Jesus. And the greatest and best prayer to give thanks to God is the Eucharist. The very word "Eucharist" means "Giving Thanks." Every time we come to Mass, we unite ourselves in thanksgiving with the sacrifice of Jesus to his Father. It's an opportunity to think back on what we have been given...and to give something in return: thanks. Actually, "thanks" is too small a word. We are here to give gratitude. We are here to honor, with grateful hearts, what God has done for us.

Very often, in our prayer lives, we spend so much time on our knees, asking for things. Pleading. "God, help me pass this test." "Keep me from throttling my teenager." "Help me find a job." "Protect my son or daughter who is overseas."

The scripture tells us to ask and we shall receive, and to knock and it will be opened. So we ask, and we knock. But what happens then? In Luke's gospel, ten people are cured by Jesus of leprosy. But not everyone comes back. Only that one, a Samaritan, returns to give glory to God. We don't know what happened to the other nine. Maybe they had turkeys to stuff or football games to watch. Implicit in this episode is the idea that something is missing. Giving thanks is a vital and necessary part of our relationship with God.

And that is because in thankfulness, we discover a measure of faith. A measure of our dependence on God, and of our own humility. But sometimes thankfulness can be hard to express.

Most of us know someone who is having a difficult time this Thanksgiving. The woman who is spending her first holiday as a widow. The father who lost his job and is worried about where he will find Christmas gifts for his children. Those friends and neighbors who are hurting or alone.

Where are the blessings for these and others who are feeling, in a particular way, burdened, afflicted, cursed? Let us make a choice to be the type of gratitude that makes these people see the bounty of God.

Happy Thanksgiving Day.

Fr. Martin
