THE KINGDOM OF HEAVEN

In addition, the Kingdom of God enters into our very lives (as Christ himself does), indeed into the core of our existence. Again, Origen wrote beautifully that “those who pray for the coming of the Kingdom of God pray without any doubt for the Kingdom of God that they contain in themselves, and they pray that this Kingdom might bear fruit and attain its fullness. For every holy man it is God who reigns ... So if we want God to reign in us, then sin must not be allowed in any way to reign in our mortal body ... Then let God stroll at leisure in us as in a spiritual paradise and rule in us alone with his Christ.” We acknowledge that the Kingdom is already inaugurated in the Person of Christ and that it is present in the Church and in the life and heart of the believer; however, its ultimate fulfillment will only be in eternity, the eschaton. Therefore, there is a dimension of the Kingdom being present here and now, hic et nunc, in our lives and in the Church as Body of Christ; and yet, it is partially accomplished – here already and not yet fully realised, iam et nondum. As we walk the path of faith and holiness as God’s pilgrim People on earth, we experience the Kingdom in a mixed state whereby both weeds and wheat grow side by side until harvest time comes about. Specifically underscoring the ecclesial dimension of the Kingdom, we are reminded by the Magisterium that “the Church, the community of those who have been brought together by the Risen Christ and who have set out to follow him, is “the sign and the safeguard of the transcendent dimension of the human person,” She is “in Christ a kind of sacrament — a sign and instrument, that is, of communion with God and of unity among all men.” Her mission is that of proclaiming and communicating the salvation wrought in Jesus Christ, which he calls “the Kingdom of God” (Mk 1:15), that is, communion with God and among men. The goal of salvation, the Kingdom of God embraces all people and is fully realized beyond history, in God. The Church has received “the mission of proclaiming and establishing among all peoples the Kingdom of Christ and of God, and she is, on earth, the seed and the beginning of that Kingdom.” - Archbishop Francis Leo, Pastoral Letter, Jan. 01, 2024
