THE WOMAN AT THE WELL

So Jesus the bridegroom meets this woman at a well and enters into this relationship with her, and what does he offer her? Living water. Well I didn't tell you this earlier, but the other meaning that living water had was the water that a woman would use in her bridal bath. So before a wedding, Jewish tradition both in Numbers 19, describes the ritual water of cleansing as living water, and in Jewish tradition — like the books outside the Bible — it talks about the fact that when a bride would be prepared for her wedding day, she would wash in living water, a ritual bath, kind of like a baptism basically, an immersion in water, and then she would come up from the water prepared for the wedding. So when Jesus promises to give this woman the living water, he is in a sense inviting her to become a bride. Not an ordinary bride but an extraordinary bride, a spiritual bride of him as the bridegroom Messiah come in person, as the Messiah. So her sins aren't an impediment to his love, but they are an impediment to her being able to love him back. She has to deal with her sin first, and in a sense come clean, so that he can wash her and make her into his bride. And she doesn't deny it when he brings up that past. She recognizes that he's told the truth and she doesn't try to get away from it. All she says is "Sir, I perceive you are a prophet." She admits it and then that's all he needs, that is the doorway that opens up so that he can then give her the gift of salvation in the living water of eternal life. And the fact that she gets it is shown to you by the fact that John tells you that once Jesus said he was the Messiah, she left her water jar there and then goes back to her people. So she's no longer looking for just earthly water because she's found the water of eternal life in him as her Messiah, as her Savior, as her bridegroom. - Brant Pitre
