Word from the Pastor

Jesus said to the rich man: "You are lacking one thing. Go, sell what you have and give to the poor, and you will have treasure in heaven; then come, follow me." If the man did give up his riches, what visible assurance would he have that he had God's approval and the gift of life? He would have to keep trusting and following Christ. "All he would have" would be Jesus to assure him of God's favor?

Is Jesus enough for us? What signs do we look for, what do we need to assure us of God's love?

Monsignor Joseph Muldoon

THEME FOR PASTORAL YEAR 2018-2019

Christ is everything for us. "Let us work for the good of all, and especially for the family of the faith".

Galatians 6.10b

Silence is something more than no sound. We must quiet our interior selves, too. If you haven't noticed, our minds love to wander all over the universe even when we're "quiet." Distraction from within is just as problematic as exterior disturbance. St. Teresa says to just laugh at distractions and give them back to God as part of prayer, but it's better if we're never distracted in the first place. That's why silence must be cultivated in every area of life.
