CONGRATULATIONS

On behalf of our parish, I was pleased to see so many people at the ordinations of Fr. Mark Gaudet, Fr. Kevin Burgess and Fr. Connor O'Hara. These three young men who were ordained on Tuesday evening will be a great asset to our Archdiocese and to our parish and I ask you to keep them in your prayers as they begin their priestly ministry.

VACATION TIME

As many of you are probably already aware, I will be going on holiday from 6-21 June and I am pleased to announce that our former intern, Fr. Connor O'Hara, will be replacing me during my absence. The regular parish services will be offered namely weekday masses Monday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday at 8:00 a.m.; confessions on Saturday at 3:30-4:30 p.m. and weekend masses on Saturday at 5:00 p.m. and Sunday at 9:30 and 11:00 a.m. Father Connor will be staying in the rectory and therefore will be available for regular parish duties including sick calls and funerals. I know that you will support him and encourage him as he begins his ministry as a priest.

LIVE STREAMING

I regret to announce that because the live streaming that we have been doing is on my Facebook account, we will not be able to live-stream any services from 5 June until 26 June. I am sorry for this in convenience, but we will resume live-streaming on Sunday, 26 June.

PENTECOST

Pentecost grips us all; it moves us all, makes us think. In our souls there shines a ray of new brightness, that 'light of the heart' which is full of truth and love.

This is the feast of the Holy Spirit, the feast of the nascent Church which shall never die; it is the feast of souls set on fire by the divine inward presence. It is the feast of wisdom, the feast of charity, of consolation, of joy, of hope and of holiness. It is the feast of the beginning of Christian culture and civilization. It is Pentecost.

Pope Paul VI

THE OUTPOURING OF THE SPIRIT

In the Old Testament, God promised that in the last days, in the days of the Messiah, he would pour out his spirit on all of his people. In Acts 2:14-18, the apostle Peter quotes this promise to explain what is happening when the apostles speak in tongues at Pentecost. This outpouring of the Spirit on Pentecost marks the beginning of the period promised so long ago. Christ offers all people salvation from their sin, through the indwelling of the Holy Spirit.

But why would God want to mark this great new beginning, the fulfillment of the Messianic promise, the start of the Church, by having the apostles speak in all the myriad languages of the polyglot world of their time? There are so many other things the Spirit might have done! Later, filled with the Spirit, the apostles heal the lame, cure the sick, cast out demons. Why didn't God mark the beginning of the outpouring of his Spirit by something more glorious than the ability to communicate with others without a translator?

Here we should remember the story of the Tower of Babel, told early in Genesis, not so long after the Fall. The people building the Tower of Babel all spoke one language; but they used this power that the commonality of language gave them, for evil, building a tower that reached to heaven. God defeated them by the simple expedient of multiplying their languages and leaving them unable to understand each other.

Now, in the new age, Christ offers all people salvation from their sin, through the indwelling of the Holy Spirit. In this age of the Spirit-filled church, all human beings are invited into communion with the Lord and with each other. Human beings can be trusted with unity when they are incorporated into the one body of the Lord.

And maybe that is why God marks the beginning of the reign of his Spirit in the Church by overturning the Babel of human language. Filled with the Holy Spirit, human beings can be given again what they lost at the Tower of Babel, not for storming heaven, but for proclaiming the kingdom of heaven on earth.
