"Each one receives the gift to witness to the Spirit for the good of all". The dynamic Catholic asks himself what is this particular gift that was given to him. He develops it to use for the greater glory of God. Humility is to recognize one's own strength as a gift from the Father to help us achieve our personal mission.

CWL ESSAY CONTEST WINNERS

The CWL recently held a diocesan-wide essay competition open to elementary school students, on the topic "What Does a Priest Do For Me and Others?". Over the next few weeks, the top entries from St. Anne's School will be featured in our bulletin in reverse order, ending with the winning essay.

WHAT DOES A PRIEST DO FOR ME AND OTHERS?

First of all, a priest is always in a good mood. They are never mad or angry in front of people. During masses and even weekly visits to our school, they are always smiling from ear to ear! Every time the priest comes in to talk to us, I learn something new, something that is not only new information for my still growing brain, but that will help me in desperate times when I need hope. A priest is also very inspirational. They don't do their jobs because they have to, they do them because they love it. They love the thought of being part of heaven before passing away. They are dedicated to their jobs. They are always there to listen, not judge, and are always honest.

I trust them and feel like if I tell them valuable information, my secret will be safe with them. They also love children and are role models for us. They help us understand that we will never be alone, even when we feel lonely, you still have God, no matter what. In times when you feel helpless and weak, they will help you through and will help you pray for hope.
