From the Pastor's Desk:

Hi Friends,

Sometimes living in the present moments can make us forget the future especially if the present moment is an enjoyable one. This weekend we are brought by our readings to reflect not just about our future lives but the ultimate end time. Our readings inform us that there will be an end to our lives and the world order, it promises that Jesus our Lord will return in His power and glory. This brings us Catholics to ponder on what we call the Four Last Things of humans: Death, Judgement, Heaven and Hell. These spiritual revelations normally bring lots of questions to us, and we wonder where we shall stand in the midst of all. The good news is, those who chose God, try to live righteously and lead others on the path of righteousness have no need to worry. God will be their portion and joy at the end.

Always remember that you can avoid sleep but not death, you will be judged at the end so be ready, you can afford to miss a bus but not Heaven, and finally, it's enough to just know about Hell, please don't go there.

May the Lord be your portion and joy when the final days come.

Your brother and servant in the Lord, Andrew.
