The Friar's Nook Peace and Goodness to all!

Now that it's October, the last gasp of summer seems to be over. The weather has turned more autumnal and people are back to there fall routines. Things at St. Joan of Arc are starting up again as well. Soon, I hope, the construction will be finished, and the front of the church will be restored to its welcoming entrance. Cyndy O'Grady is ready to replace the plants in the new planters out front and restore the beauty of nature around the outside of the church. We're grateful to her and to those who help her for making our church attractive to those who pass by. And who knows, maybe some will even stop in for a prayer or two!

Up in the Friary, we can tell things are getting busy by the noise that's beneath our feet, with groups that are meeting. But it's a joyful noise, the sound of the church in action, and the sound of St. Joan of Arc parishioners taking charge of their stewardship in the parish. It is truly encouraging to see the activity of the many groups here at the church. If you are not yet a member of one of our many groups, please consider joining one. Being a member of a parish group connects you closer to the parish itself and connects you to people of a like mind.

We are presently working on new flyers for all the ministries here at the church You'll find a draft on the bulletin boards and soon there will be individual ministry information sheets for you to pick up and respond to. If there is something that you would like to see that doesn't presently happened here in the parish, seriously consider starting a group for that you might find others who are interested as well.

It looks like the front doors to the church maybe finally getting redone! Ivan Kastelic has been doggedly working on this project for months now and has found a company to do the work. We are grateful for his determination on this project and for all the work he does in the parish. So, who knows, someday soon the front doors may be restored to their original beauty and be easy to open and close!

A reminder that the RCIA starts and that parishioners seeking a greater understanding of their faith can drop in on Wednesday nights. Even if you can't make all the sessions you will learn a lot each week. And if you're unsure about stepping into this group alone bring a friend!

We look forward to the parish community becoming busier and busier and that our parishioners can be fully active in our parish. We'll be looking for you.

*Peace, love and joy,
Fr. Dan & Fr. Bob*

Please Pray for:

The Sick: Bishop Bob Kasun, Danuta, Drysdale Lanz

The Deceased: Joan Kirkpatrick, Paul Caputo, Emily Pless, Dorothy Sobie,, Mark McMullen
