* Sacrament of Anointing & Communion to the Sick:

From the Pastor's Desk:

Kyrie Eleison. After confessing our sinfulness to God, we cry out to him for mercy. We cannot go on in the Mass without praying, "Lord have mercy!" If there is one expression that is constantly used throughout the entire scriptures, it's this request for God's mercy. Two blind men, Bartimeus, ten lepers, and St. Peter, just to name a few, cried out, "Lord, Have mercy."

Glory to God in the Highest. After confessing our sinfulness, begging God for mercy, we now sing a hymn of praise to God, for he has heard our cry for mercy as he quickly answered the cries for mercy of those in the scriptures. The Gloria is filled with quotes from all over the scriptures. The first words make up the song of the angels at the birth of Jesus, as they sang, "Gloria in excelsis! Glory to God in the Highest and peace to people of good will!" Jesus came down from Heaven to be one of us so that he could reveal himself to us and save us from our sins!

Opening Prayer. The priest then says, "Let us pray," and he pauses so as to give everyone a chance to silently place their prayers before God. Then he sums them all up with an official prayer.

The Readings. After his resurrection, Jesus met a few of his disciples on the road to Emmaus. There, it says, "... beginning with Moses and all the Prophets, he explained to them what was said in all the Scriptures." Before they recognised Jesus in the 'breaking of the bread,' which is the Mass, He first went over the scriptures with them. And so we continue that tradition by having a reading proclaimed from the Old Testament, the psalms, the New Testament, and the Gospel. Following all of the readings, the priest offers a homily or a reflection on the readings and explains some aspect of them to the people.

Liturgy of the Eucharist. The breaking of the bread. At the heart of the worship of almighty God in the Eucharist is the real presence of Jesus in the bread and the wine which are consecrated at Mass. We believe that Christ is truly present in the bread and the wine, and that once the priest speaks the words of consecration (this is my body, this is my blood), the bread and the wine become truly and substantially (not symbolically) Jesus himself. We take the time to prepare ourselves for a real encounter with the living God.

The preparation takes place in the context of one prayer called the Eucharistic Prayer. This is the prayer of the Church which serves as preparation for the coming of Jesus in the Eucharist, calling down by the power of the Holy Spirit the presence of Jesus in the bread and the wine, and a prayer of praise and worship immediately after the bread and wine have become the body and blood of Jesus. The Eucharistic Prayer begins with a three part dialogue:
