The Power of Memory

The power of memory can be seen in human interactions on many different levels. What we remember colors our daily living and influences our decisions and actions. When I remember that someone has cheated me in the past, it is likely that I will not be able to trust that person in the future.

On the other hand, when I remember God's mercy towards me, it is more likely that I will show mercy to someone else: "Her many sins are forgiven because she loved much. But to whom less is forgiven, loves less". A well-known story is told of a young woman walking the streets of Paris one rainy evening and stumbling upon couple of poor children who had no shoes. She wanted to do something for them, so she took them to a local shoe store and bought them two pairs of socks and two pairs of brand new sneakers. As she began walking away one of the children asked her: "Hey lady, are you God?" She turned around with a smile and replied: "No, but I'm His daughter". It was the power of memory that allowed this young woman to do this small and yet great deed; she remembered who she was and because of her remembering she felt compelled to do something. We can use the power of our memory for good or for evil. When we remember only the bad things that happened to us, how people hurt us, this is when the power of the memory can damage our lives and move us away from God. Our Christian tradition teaches us to use memory for good instead: by remembering what God has done for us, how He died for us, how He blessed us. Remembering God's goodness is the beginning of prayer, the beginning of meditation. This is precisely what we do during Mass, when the priest speaks for all of us when he reminds God what He did for us: "God our Heavenly Father, you sent your only Son to redeem us from sin and open the gates of Heaven to those who believe..." Phrases like this are numerous during Mass, and they indicate not God's need to be reminded what He did for us, but rather, a prayerful and poetic way of reminding ourselves of the good that God has directed our way. So, next time you remember something: pay attention. Ask yourself: Am I choosing to remember the good or the bad? Am I using the power of memory to draw closer to God or further away from Him.

A Seminarian's Thoughts:

Life was tough at the minor seminary at first. One thing I particularly remember was just how exhausted I was every day. My legs especially were tired. We had no living room or lounge where you could flop down and rest. There were no couches or chairs to sit down for a bit. Even if there were, we had no free time to relax. Sure, we sat through our classes and meals, but that was it. The rest of the day we were on our feet either playing sports or cleaning our lockers or some other task. Life was go, go, go. Over time, however, my body adjusted to the rigorous schedule. Weekends we could sleep in a whole half hour and wake up at 6:30 instead of 6. Bedtime was immediately after night prayer, which was at 9 every night. After that we entered what is called Grand Silence, meaning you couldn't talk to anyone for any reason other than an emergency. The idea is that as we prepare for sleep we should be talking to God, reviewing our day, and delving into quiet, not going to bed distracted with a million things on our minds. Grand silence ended after Mass the next morning, when we entered regular silence. That meant you could talk, but only for a purpose. Conversation was only allowed at specific times during the day, such as dinner and during recreation. It was a traditional, monastic life. Life was demanding, but eventually I made friends and began to enjoy myself. I had found a new home and a new family.

(CCC #2207) Join us on October 20th. Call Lena at 905-528-7988 ext. 2249, or go to www.hamiltondiocese.com.

Collection for the Needs of the Church in Canada: the Canadian Conference of Catholic Bishops (CCCB), following the Second Vatican Council (1962-1965), became part of the worldwide network of episcopal conferences. As the CCCB President states in his message for this Collection, "Through their Episcopal Conference, the Bishops today continue to work together on doctrinal and ethical questions; ecumenical initiatives and interreligious dialogue; international relations; evangelization, faith education and catechesis; relations with Indigenous peoples; questions of social justice, and the development of a culture of life and family.." Thank you for your prayers and your financial contribution.

For the Sick, our fellow parishioners and family members who are in need of our prayers: for Maureen McTeague, Vern Finlayson, Fred Fries, Josh Cahoon, Sean McTeague, and Josh Carroll - We pray to the Lord. We are rebuilding our prayer list. If you or a loved one are in need of prayer, please call the office. Each year, at this time, we will begin our list anew.
