Stewardship – “Reflection”

St. Paul boldly proclaims that we must “owe no one anything, except to love one another.” To truly love is to act as an authentic steward and will the good of the other. However, we must move from merely willing the good to actually doing the good for St. Gregory the Great says that the “proof of love is in the works.”

Many returning to RC church

A 2026 survey conducted by the French bishops' conference (France) of 1,450 catechumens from 60 dioceses found that 40% of people seeking baptism were drawn to the church because they "went through a difficult time (illness, bereavement, etc.) that sparked a search for meaning." Other leading reasons included asking questions about the Christian faith, having a profound spiritual experience and being touched by the beauty of a religious site. This past couple of years here at St Augustine we have been blessed with some folks who have joined the church and are active here in the parish. There is a hunger and thirst in many parts of the world... where the Catholic church responds, accompanies, receives... and so enter the Christian community; never to look back.

Baptisms in the Catholic Church In Ireland have fallen by almost a third since 2015, with just one Irish diocese seeing any positive change, a new report shows. (Catholic register Aug. 25) While around 60% of the 30% collapse can be attributed to declining births, the rest is accounted for by "rising secularism," according to the Catholic nonprofit Iona Institute. The decline is in line with census figures, which show that the number of people who identify as having "no religion" -- the so-called "nones" -- has been "rising fast" in Ireland over the past 10 years, the report states.
