"Could you not watch one hour with me?"
(Mark 14:37)

LIFE CHAIN is a powerful and prayerful way to be a witness to the Truth and to Life. It takes only an hour and all you have to do is stand quietly with others at a busy intersection, holding a sign with a simple message. The signs say: "Life, the First Human Right", "Abortion hurts Women", and "Jesus forgives and heals". And as you stand, you can pray quietly for our nation.

YEAR OF THE PRIEST

St. John Marie Vianney

"In St. John Vianney's assignment as parish priest of Ars, he achieved something which many priests would like to have done, but which is scarcely granted to any. Not over night, but little by little, the tiny hamlet underwent a change. The people of Ars were unable to remain aloof for long from the grace which radiated from the remarkable personality of their priest.

In his early sermons he thundered against the prevalent vices of the village of Ars: blasphemies, cursing, profanation of Sundays, immodest songs and conversations. He would never consider Ars converted until all of the 200 villagers were living up to the ten commandments of God, the six precepts of the Church and fulfillment of their duties in life. Was this asking too much in exchange for Heaven? Undoubtedly though, the most heinous crime in the eyes of this saint, the one that made him weep whenever he heard it or spoke against it, was the taking of the most Holy Name of Jesus in vain.

It took St. John Vianney ten years to renew Ars, but the community changed so noticeably and to such an extent that it was observed even by outsiders. There was no more working on Sundays, the church was filled more and more every year, and drunkenness fell off. In the end the taverns had to close their doors since they had no more customers; and even domestic squabbles abated. Honesty became the principal characteristic. Under his guidance the little village became a community of pious people, to whom all his labours were directed.

He delighted in teaching the children their catechism and he did this daily. After a while the grown-ups came too and he found that those who were children during the Revolution were in complete ignorance of their religious duties. He taught the people love for the rosary and wanted everyone to carry one around at all times.

The conversion of the whole parish was too unusual an occurrence for it to remain unknown. From the year 1827 there began the famous stream of pilgrims to Ars. People went to Ars from all parts of France, from Belgium, from England and even from America. The principal motive which led all these crowds of pilgrims to the priest of Ars was purely the desire for him to hear their confession and receive spiritual counsel from him. Like St. Francis de Sales, he had the gift of "seeing everything and not looking at anyone". In confessing people this holy man, who had a fundamental knowledge of sin, strove after one thing only – to save souls. This was his ardent desire, and for the sake of it he suffered all the tortures of his daylong confinement in the confessional. This great saint heard confessions from 13 to 17 hours a day, and could tell a penitent's sins even when they were withheld. He would often weep in the confessional and when he was asked why he wept, he would reply: "My friend, I weep because you do not weep".
