When Jesus tried to teach in His hometown, the people would not listen. So, He went away to other towns. Like Jesus, there may be times when people do not like us or believe us. Pray with our children for the grace to demonstrate the Christian way of living so that others will find faith through our actions.

Reflection: The readings of today call our attention to the presence of the prophet in our midst, his role, and the need for us to pay attention to his voice. Whether we accept it or not, the words of the prophet shall come to pass, because they are from God. The Church is prophetic. Through her ministers, God reveals His will and desire to humanity at both individual and general levels. These revelations are found in His Word and the teachings of the Church. They open our eyes to the truth about ourselves. If we are humble enough to admit to the truth, the grace of God is sufficient to save us, but if out of pride, we refuse to admit to the revelations of the prophet, then we shall, in God's own time, come to realize that truly there are prophets among us. Our openness and willingness to accept God's words, reverently use the Sacraments, and accord respect to the ministers in the Church will open the treasures of God's blessings and favours for us.

Not only will a mass be said for them, you will also be reminding them of your faith in our Lord Jesus Christ. Mass request envelopes are available at the entrances of the church or you can contact the parish office. Mass intention cards are available upon request.

Please assist us in our project to rebuild the church front stairs. Please make sure to clearly write FRONT STEPS on your donation!
